About Sheena

Sheena Hunt is a woman of God on a mission to transform the world one person at a time through entrepreneurship, podcasting, and consulting. As CEO and founder of Empowered Strategy, a digital marketing agency, Sheena has impacted many small businesses and entrepreneurs by helping them craft the perfect brand message and connect with their market in a new, fresh way to grow revenue. This business is undergoing closure while she focuses on her new company, The DeVain Collective.

Under her consulting and coaching business, The DeVain Collective, Sheena partners with entrepreneurs who are ready to launch into their destiny by crafting, iterating, and launching innovative products/services via coaching in her Purposefully Empowered Program. She also consults with entrepreneurs with businesses that are ready for growth by scaling their business and optimizing their processes for success with her Optimize program.

Sheena launched the Beautifully Complicated Podcast in 2016 to directly communicate and engage with millennial entrepreneurs who understand the need for wholeness on the entrepreneurship journey.

Finally, she launched BeautifullyHuman, an initiative that is focused on doing the work to rid the world of poverty and its detrimental effects it has on people. From climate change to lack of resources, the work needed is broad, but necessary.

Podcast Listeners

Listeners to the Beautifully Complicated Podcast are millennial, entrepreneurial women and men who understand that the formula for success requires acknowledgement of ones' own complexity and depth. This podcast engages listeners on the latest in politics and pop culture and how it relates back to their own destiny, their own self care mentally, physically, spiritually, and even financially. It educates and motivate them with stories of black women entrepreneurs who are on the rise or at the top. Most importantly, the listeners obtain business tips and knowledge in The Biz Corner that they can use to gain success in their endeavors. Check it out and follow the Beautifully Complicated Podcast page on Facebook.
